The Tobacco Convention on Satur- they expect a general division of property. day.

The Convention of Tobacco Growers, Manufacturers and Shippers, which met in this city on Saturday last, was composed of some of the most substantial farmers and practical business men of the Miami Valley, and was largely attended. H.S. GUNCKEL Esq. President of the Tobacco Growers' Association, called the meeting to JACOB ZIMMER, Esq., Chairman of the committee appointed at a previous meeting, respondence reports the arrival at Vera read the report and recommendations of CERZ of 17,000 Springfield muskets for Maxthe Committee, which were, in substance, that our representatives in Congress be requested to advocate the repeal of the present law, and the adoption of one based on the ad valorem principle. The "cut in the desires to retire from the Presidency. meal tub" on this occasion was the same old feline that has so often been discovered proposed to lay down twelve miles of tubing heretofore-a regular, full-blooded Yankee from Pit Hole to Titusville, for the conveyeat," as will appear bereafter.

The remarks of Mr. GUNCKEL were clear and to the point, showing most unmistakably how the Great West, and particularly the Miami Valley, had suffered by the inequalities of the present law. He said, in substance, that "tobacco grown here, worth five or six cents a pound, had to pay as forty cents a pound; and the consequence is that all the tobacco grown in the Miami pipes of wine will be made, and the prostually excluded from the markets of the country."

long how much Yankee ascendency in the tinned in Bolivia, with more favorable councils of the nation costs them. This prospects for the revolutionists. The new tobacco business is only a "drop in the government of Peru is rapidly being orbucket" compared with the stupendous ganized. Attempts to overthrow the govsystem of infamous class legislation for the ernments of several of the interior states sole and exclusive benefit of New England had been suppressed. manufacturers. But the day is dawning tion at that-will be fully understood and effect can now be collected. appreciated; and a Representative from the West who will not speak, and vote, and act for the good of his immediate constituents, will be indignantly east aside as unworthy of his trust.

There was one feature in the proceedings of the convention that we did not like-the evident timidity with which gentlemen approached the subject of their grievances. We like bold, out-spoken words-such as men speak who know their rights and are determined to maintain them. But when such papers as the Dayton Journal glory in the ascendency of New England measures and principles, it was not, perhaps, to be wondered at that such members of the convention as pin their faith to the tail of the Yankee kite and endorse the heresy advocated by the Journal, should draw it mildly

No later than last Saturday-the very day on which the convention met-the Journal gave utterance to the sentiments contained in the following paragraph, thus virtually admitting the whole question, and tacitly sanctioning the degradation and ruin to which the whole west is subjected by reason of the ascendency of the partial and unjust policy to which we have alluded. Hear what the Journal says:

"The Nashville Dispatch indulged a leader the other day, assuming to show that "Puritans can't govern." The assumtion is controverted by the important fact that they do govern wherever they settle. Given a population of which one third are New Englanders, anywhere in this nation, and the predominating influences of their New Englanders, anywhere in this nationand the predominating influences of their principles will soon exhibit itself—whether in trade, politics or religion."

Just so long as papers advocating the taxation and subjugation of the Western people, for the exclusive benefit of a few hundred thousand of New England manufactures are sustained, so long will these odious and oppressive inequalities in Congressional legislation prevail. Heretotore they have been able to cover up, to some extent, this infquitous system of class legislation; but in the matter of tobacco, it could not be done. The meal in the tub was not sufficient to hide the cat.

The people of the West may reasonably expect more of this same class of legislation of that department. He says:

He fallaciously and mischievously went to work to educate and clevate the black man with an utter disregard of the foliacy and rights of the white race, who, at least a body of black men, who rode at large over the country and committed excesses of the most infamous character. The people generally suffered at the expense of every man who had a black face. A perfect region of terror was rife; everything became unsettled; and an impiacable hatred hetween the two races was the natural off-spring. He not only did not co-operate with the commanding general, but he zealously worked to clog his efforts in all particulars.

Two outrageous acts of General Wild are brought to notice. For some alleged reason or other, he caused an old gentleman weighing over two hundred pounds to be done. The mean in the tub expect more of this same class of legislation during the present session of Congress, for it is a significant fact that the chairman of every important committee is from the second was relieved he argently the control of the county. New England States.

New England States.

Our people should be prepared for it.
What we of the West most need is a general convention, not only of the tobacco growers, but of the farmers, mechanics, manufacturers, laborers and consumers of kept and supported by the Federal commission. all classes. Let us come together in the right spirit-feeling that we have a common interest to sustain-resolved to assert our manhood, and no longer submit to the oppression and degradation of New England interests, either politically, religiously or pecuniarily.

POLITICS IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS .- A special dispatch to the St. Louis Republican, dated the 8th inst., gives us this gratifying intelligence: Official returns from the Judicial election show Green's majority is 1,135. Perry county gives Dougherty 340 majority, a falling off of the Republican majority of 400. Jackson county gives Green 120 majority. This county gave 100 Republican majority. Union county gives Green 657 majority.

How Mr. Davis is Treated.

The Fortress Mouroe correspondent of the New York Herald says:

I started only to write the fact that Jeff. Davis is still a prisoner here, that the fact may not be wholly forgotten by the public. He is still in Carroll Hall; still in a large but well and plainly furnished room; still in the enjoyment of a good fire and good attendance; still allowed abundant reading matter, still because the daily walks as matter; still permitted his daily walks on the parapet; and, last but not least, still granted, as regards eating, as say hotel bills, "the best the market affords," Excepting occasional boils, which trouble him with Job-like persistency, though happily not quite as plentifully, his health continues good.

The methodical precision of one habituated to business is evident in his arrangement of his papers and books, and the same fastidiousness upon the subject of dress and clean linen is still a prominent characteristic. When he walks out he is always neatly gloved, and his jaunty cane bears him unfalling company. His strength of will is remarkable. It has sustained him thus fur through a long and what, to one of his through a long and what, to one of his active habits, restless energies and grasp-ing ambition, must be a torturing imprison-ment.
